

ABSTRACT:

Coding a data stream comprising: channel coding (11) respective partitions of a given part of the data stream with different error protection rates to obtain a coded data stream (WS1), and including (20, 14) length information (lf) concerning respective lengths of the respective partitions in the coded data stream (WS1).

5

Fig. 4